NAVCO Security Systems Joins 3VR National Network of Certified Dealers
Security Expert Combines Renowned Service and 3VR Technology for Banks and Retailers

Las Vegas, NV--ASIS International-- September 24, 2007--3VR Security, Inc., the pioneer of searchable surveillance, today announced that NAVCO, the largest privately held national systems integrator in North America, has joined the 3VR National Network of Certified Dealers. NAVCO is known for advanced electronic security and networking communications solutions for a variety of industries with the best combination of products, software, applications, service and support.

"NAVCO delivers security solutions that are engineered for a fast-moving converging world," said Jim Kauker, chief sales officer for NAVCO. "Retailers and retail bankers need access to world-class security technology that is optimized for fighting fraud and theft as well as supporting efficient investigations. We're pleased to be able to offer 3VR to meet these needs. Banks select NAVCO to ensure they'll have access to the most advanced network and security solutions, delivered by skilled professionals for national solutions. We're excited about the forward-thinking features of the new 3VR product line and combined with our 36 years in the security industry, we believe together we have a powerful combination to offer the market."

3VR uniquely works with both analog and mega pixel cameras, combining video analysis, search and intelligent video management in a network solution that provides a unique tool to use in efficient forensic investigations of fraud. Before selling 3VR solutions, NAVCO's installation professionals participate in a rigorous 3VR training and certification program to assure the highest quality of service and expertise. With vast experience, expert training, a national delivery platform and now advanced 3VR technology, NAVCO is able to provide the right tools to meet the security needs of today's banks.

“We are very excited to be working with NAVCO, a proven leader in the security industry,” said Gary Kallman, vice president of sales for 3VR Security. “NAVCO offers reliable and knowledgeable installation and service to its customers. We're pleased to complement their expertise with our advanced searchable surveillance solution and believe that the combination is powerful for the customers we jointly serve.”
